

National Geographic Traveller

APL Media Limited is seeking a talented project editor to join its friendly Kentish Town-based office, delivering editorial and commercial content for the National Geographic Traveller (UK) team.

We're looking for a skilled editor with project management experience who's capable of working across print and online formats and is driven by producing excellent travel editorial and client-led content.

You may currently be a commissioning editor or copywriter with at least five years' experience in journalism. You may be working in an editorial or branded content team where you're looking for a new challenge and are confident in your abilities to be able to work collaboratively on fast-paced projects.

For this role, you'll be part of a team producing branded content campaigns for National Geographic Traveller (UK).

The main focus of the role, however, will be working on The Collection by National Geographic Traveller (UK), a series of glossy coffee table publications with titles including Spa & Wellness, Islands and Experiences. These titles combine both a front section of editorial features and a large paid-for directory of hotels and tour operators. Experience of managing and producing advertorial features will be essential for this role.

However, you may be expected to work on, and develop, other projects across the APL Media portfolio as required.

The role will require strong time-management and editing skills, and the ability to manage a large quantity of advertorials as well as creatively commission editorial.

With experience of working with writers, clients and editorial teams, you'll be able to confidently deliver your publication or campaign to deadline and be the conduit between different departments, including sales, editorial and production.

Managing, commissioning, writing, SEO, editing, overseeing flatplans, fact-checking and proofing will all be part of the role.

A creative and strategic thinker, ~~who~~s passionate about the travel and media industry. Excellent leadership and interpersonal skills, capable of fostering strong working relationships.

A person who excels in time management and project delivery.

Medicash health cash plan

Enhanced parental leave

Discounted gym membership

Opportunity for a charity day with your chosen cause

Regular social events and more

Christmas closing

Only candidates meeting the requirements for the role will be contacted.